

Better sustainability through efficient waste streams

Wastemaster will streamline your disposal activities, help you recycle more and keep organic material out of the landfill—saving you time, work and money.

The Green Chicago Restaurant Coalition has partnered with Wastemaster

in an effort to make waste disposal more efficient while reducing the associated costs. Wastemaster will bring your costs down and free up capital, which can be used toward furthering your sustainability objectives.

Wastemaster is a broker in the waste, recycling, and organics industries—independently tracking pricing for all of these services. After reviewing recent invoices of your waste stream, we determine how competitive your pricing is and help renegotiate current contracts without penalty.

By maximizing every dollar spent on your waste stream, your restaurant can begin to save on time, workload, and costs related to disposal. Whether it's adding recycling or composting, or both, we put our industry knowledge and experience to work for you.

“Working with Wastemaster was so easy. They reviewed my waste stream and within a few weeks they were able to dramatically reduce my costs while keeping service levels the same. My recycling efficiency increased while the workload required of my employees decreased.”
